

Travel Risk Management

Travel risk management is the practice of planning, mitigating, and eluding risks that executives may encounter while traveling. This can include weather, social unrest, terrorism, natural disasters, public health events, and much more.

Strategic plans for specific threats

Depending on your business location, or itinerary, your organization may need a systematic approach to prepare executives and supporting staff to navigate safely through the many risks that may be encountered while away on business.

Intelligence & Monitoring

- Geographically tailored alerts – via email and online portal.
- Compliance monitoring – completion of pre-travel assessments, and fit-for-work.
- Critical event management – your global infrastructure mapped to a single incident preparedness monitoring and response tool.

Senior security experts acting as advisors to your organization

- Dedicated to your organization: reviewing your threats, and global plans & procedures.
- Supporting your teams so you are prepared for every situation: including major incidents and evacuation planning.
- Notifications relating to your teams via our global case management platform, MSG will provide you with regular updates until the situation is fully resolved.

Communicate quickly with your teams via multiple channels

During the first moments following a crisis or security incident, quickly understanding the impact that the crisis might have on your people, organization and assets is critical. We use GPS to help you to quickly locate and communicate with your impacted teams.

24/7 Security Assistance – Any time, anywhere

Peace of mind comes with knowing that assistance is available and in any language. No matter the situation you will always connect with a live person at MSG.
